Man is jailed for abusing patient

A HAVERHILL health worker has been jailed for sexually abusing a female in Fulbourn mental health hospital.

James Hollinrake, of Queensway, was sentenced to 18 months at Cambridge Crown Court.

The 23-year-old, right, was found guilty of two charges of conducting sexual acts on a patient with mental health problems and learning disabilities.

Bosses of Cambridgeshire and Peterborough NHS Foundation Trust, who employed Hollinrake, have told the Weekly News of their shock on first hearing the allegations. They said swift action was taken to halt any further breaches of trust.

They insisted all criminal record and background checks were made on Hollinrake before he worked on the wards.

He was accused of having a "relationship" with the vulnerable patient which came to light after it was reported to police by a member of hospital staff.

A spokeswoman said: "We confirm Mr Hollinrake was employed by Cambridgeshire and Peterborough NHS Foundation Trust as a health care assistant from February 2009 until his resignation in October 2010.

"Prior to Mr Hollinrake being employed by the trust, we had undertaken all of the appropriate checks on his background, none of which gave rise to any concerns.

"The trust was shocked to hear about the allegations of Mr Hollinrake's relationship with a patient and acted promptly to protect patients by suspending him and reporting the allegations to the police. Mr Hollinrake subsequently resigned from the trust.

"Trust staff are committed to caring for some of the most vulnerable people in society. We unreservedly condemn Mr Hollinrake's actions."

The abuse happened between January and April last year.

Cricket camp in village

A NEW innovation in cricket – the cricket camp – is being held at a village club.

The camp will take place at Weston Colville cricket club over three days in July, is aimed at allowing youngsters to spend concentrated time building their cricketing skills while having fun.

The initiative is led by Alex Meddle, a Weston Colville first team player who has been part of the Sri Lanka test team's coaching staff during their current UK tour.

The camp will take place from July 26 to July 28 and will be open on a first-come-first-served basis to children aged 7 to 13 in the area.

Supported by a team of qualified cricket coaches and sponsored by the Cambridgeshire Cricket Board, the camp is designed for children of all cricketing abilities to learn and develop their skills in the game.

Steve Potter, chairman of Weston Colville cricket club, said: "We are seeing a really great level of interest in cricket these days, but it is a game with many different aspects, which take a while to learn."

"Weekly training sessions are great, but we realise that youngsters can really progress quickly if they spend a concentrated period learning, practising and then building on the skills learned."

Teddy boys and girls raise cash

Feeling sleepy?: Kedington youngsters show off their pyjamas and soft toys.

CHILDREN at a primary school turned up for class in unusual attire to help sick youngsters in hospitals and hospices across the UK.

Pupils at Kedington Primary School wore their pyjamas at the Church Walk centre to mark Wrong Trousers Day for the Wallace and Gromit's Children's Foundation.

Students were asked to donate 50p each to the good cause for the privilege to wear the wacky outfits.

Rachel Darville from the school said: "The children were really looking forward to dressing up and it is such a good cause. 'We have had a great day.'"

The youngsters, many of whom were donning dressing gowns for the day, also brought their teddy bears along for the special occasion.

The event was arranged by the school's council and was one of hundreds of similar events taking place across the nation. Wallace and Gromit's Children's Foundation is a children's health charity raising funds to improve the quality of life for sick kids in children's hospitals and hospices throughout the UK.

Since its beginnings in 2003, it has helped 48 children's hospitals and hospices and given out grants totalling more than £1.3 million.

'OPEN as usual' was the message from schools in Haverhill as today's teachers' strike arrived – bucking the national trend.

The National Union of Teachers (NUT) and the Association of Teachers and Lecturers voted earlier this month for industrial action after a dispute with the Government over teachers' pensions.

Union leaders had warned that most schools across Britain would have to close for the one-day walk out, but the vast majority of schools in this region told the Weekly News they are operating as normal.

Of the 19 schools in the Haverhill area questioned this week, only Thurlow Primary School in Little Thurlow said it would be completely closed due to a lack of staff, while Ridgewell Primary in Essex said they would be closed to years 5 and 6 but run normally for all other year groups.

Graham White, NUT secretary for Suffolk, said: "The number of teachers striking does vary from school to school but I must say that I am surprised so few schools in the Haverhill area have said they are taking part."

"I think it says more about Haverhill schools than about Suffolk as I am

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

expecting very few schools in the county as a whole to remain open as usual."

Mr White also said that due to current changes in Suffolk's education system from three-tier to two-tier, some middle school teachers may be discouraged from striking out of fears they may damage upcoming redundancy terms.

He added: "The NUT does not instruct teachers to strike but, in my view, the walk out is regrettable but necessary."

"We want our pension to be left alone and so far the Government has provided no evidence that they are unaffordable."

Meanwhile, neighbouring Cambridgeshire is also expecting huge disruption for parents, with half of all schools expected to close.

On Monday night, figures released by education chiefs showed that 71 of the county's 250 schools had already reported their intentions, with 29 saying they would shut, 18 planning to be partially closed and 26 hoping to be open as normal.

But there is expected to be a rise on the day as schools are under no obligation to tell the county council of their proposals.

Summer celebration

A LAVISH summer celebration in a beautiful garden setting is set to return to a Suffolk village. The traditional fete will be held from 2pm on Sunday, July 10 at Great Bradley Hall and will be free to enter. There will be a variety of stalls, pony rides, tombolas, sideshows, a wheel of fortune, a raffle, art and photography displays, a produce competition, and a grand summer draw giving entrants the chance to win a Great Bradley Farm Hamper. St Felix Middle School Steel Band will perform, while organ recitals will take place at the nearby church.

Stuck steed is released

PART of a horsebox had to be sawn away to release a steed which got stuck. The animal was sedated while firefighters cut off a piece of internal panel with a reciprocating saw on Haverhill Road in Withersfield, which was closed. Once the horse was released it remained in the box with a vet while the fire service escorted it back to the farm. The incident happened at 5.30pm on Monday.

Get set for show time!

A HIGHLIGHT of Haverhill's calendar is to return this weekend after months of preparation.

The Haverhill Show will welcome thousands of visitors to the town's recreation ground in Camps Road on Sunday for attractions ranging from dancing to classic cars.

The event, which has been running in the town for almost 40 years, will again raise funds for LAMPH, based in Colne Valley Road – a charity helping local children and adults who have learning difficulties and disabilities.

Benjamin Driver, who has been promoting the event on behalf of the Show Society, said everyone was really looking forward to getting things under way on Sunday morning.

He said: "As always it is a lot of hard work to put everything together and there are a few panicky moments but it is all looking

"We have so much on in the arena area and around – a dog show, baby show, dance acts from around the region, karate demonstrations, a classic car show, boot sale with hundreds of cars, hovercrafts, bouncy castle, stalls, beer tent, food – you name it.

"It is sure to be a fantastic day out for the whole community and we hope to raise plenty of money for this good local cause."

The event will be free to enter with a charge of £6 for a boot sale pitch. The arena attraction get under way at 10am but the boot sale will open earlier. The show will close from 5pm.

Benjamin added: "We would love to hear from anyone who could spare some time to volunteer. They can turn up at 8am on the day and speak to us or come to a final meeting at the recreation ground at 7.30pm on Friday."

The annual show has always attracted large crowds and with the forecast expecting sunshine, numbers could exceed 3,000.

Entries are still open for both the Haverhill baby and dog shows, in aid of LAMPH.

The baby show is split into four age categories with 0-6 months at noon, 6-12 months at 1pm, 12-18 months at 2pm and 18 months to 2 years at 3pm. Presentations are at 4pm. Just turn up and pay £2.50 per baby.

Meanwhile the dog show is open to any canine pet; entrants must report to the arena at noon for registration.

Presentations will take place at 3pm. The fee is £1.50 per category, per dog, and people can again turn up on the day.

Times are approximate. For more information, phone 07866 612472.

Stars help banish the post-festival blues with Fringe preview shows

A MUSIC, arts and cultural festival is racing towards a thrilling conclusion.

But the excitement doesn't end when Haverhill Festival draws to a close on Sunday – less than a week later, a star-name TV comic is coming to town.

Phill Jupitus, a team captain on Never Mind the Buzzcocks and regular panellist on shows such as QI, will try out his new material in advance of the Edinburgh Festival at Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, July 8 at 8pm.

The funnyman will be joined on the night by Josh Widdicombe, a comedian who has recently made appearances on Stand Up for the Week and was dubbed FHM's Stand Up Hero 2010.

The following week, on Friday, July 15, at 8pm the outspoken and uncompromising American comic Dave Fulton takes to the stage along with fast-rising Seann Walsh, who is tipped to be an award contender at the Edinburgh event in August.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure chief, at Haverhill Town Council said: "Last year's Edinburgh Fringe previews included Kevin Bridges, who continues to go from strength to strength, and Jon Richardson, who is now the new team captain on Channel 4's 8 out of 10 Cats with Jimmy Carr – who has also played the Arts Centre in the past.

"These Fringe Previews are a chance to see very popular acts such as Phil Jupitus alongside the upcoming stars of the future.

"And the ticket price is very low – but Haverhill deserves it."

Tickets for both shows are just £10.00 with a discount for Monkey Nuts Comedy Club members to £8.50. To book, phone 01440 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

The Haverhill Festival, a two-week long series of shows and activities, began on June 18.

Saturday will see one of the programme's highlights as Haverhill town centre is taken over by street acts and performers during a street festival from 10.30am through to 3pm.

The festival is due to close on Sunday with a Last Night of the Festival Proms, featuring the Haverhill Operatic Society and Haverhill Silver Band at the Old Independent Church in Hamlet Road.

Hard men to share religion – with powerlifting demos

A TRADITION of the Haverhill Show will be repeated this year – with a "tough-talking" twist.

Each year, Haverhill Methodist Church holds a short service from the bandstand in the recreation field at 10am. This time it will employ the services of charity called Tough Talk as guest speakers.

The group, made up of a group of men with backgrounds as ex bouncers, football hooligans and "hard men", will aim to share religion in an informal way that appeals to people who would not normally go to a church meeting.

The team travel throughout the UK, Europe and worldwide performing powerlifting demonstrations as a backdrop to telling their stories.

Kathy Cohen, Haverhill Methodist Church communications team leader, said: "We don't yet know how many of the team will be with us, but there will be a powerlifting demonstration involved and we are hoping that they will stay for a few hours and be available to talk to anyone interested."

Drivers face police check

Road safety message: An officer inspects a car in Haverhill yesterday. Pictures: Duncan Lamont 749435.

DOZENS of police cars patrolled Haverhill's streets yesterday in an effort to promote road safety.

The town was the location for a special road enforcement operation yesterday as the town's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) joined forces with Bury St Edmunds Roads Policing Unit (RPU) to send out a clear message to road users.

Police officers set up a base in the car park next to the Cineworld cinema in Ehringshausen Way from 10.30am to 4pm, and patrolled the town in police cars to combat criminal use of the roads and nuisance vehicles.

SNT and RPU personnel were joined by officers from the UK Border Agency and Revenue and Customs, a trained mechanic from the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency (VOSA), and an officer from the dog unit with a drugs dog.

Sgt Sarah Bartley from Haverhill SNT, joint leader of the operation with Sgt Dave Shaw from the RPU, said: "The idea behind this is to make the road safer.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"We want people to know that if you are driving without insurance or without a licence or you are in a vehicle that is unsafe you will be dealt with."

Drivers were pulled into the checkpoint if they were deemed to be in an unroadworthy car, or if they were committing any offence such as not wearing a seatbelt or using a phone.

Customs were on hand to fuel-dip for red diesel, cars were given a thorough examination by the mechanic, and drivers' documents were checked.

Sgt Bartley added: "We have had a few complaints from people in Haverhill of late about drivers so this operation seems to have come at the right time."

"We want to stop any issue early, rather than let it become a bigger problem later on."

"Operations like these are about education as well as enforcement – people need to check their vehicles regularly."

During the five-and-a-half-hour operation, a total of 21 vehicles were stopped with 17 subject to a full check. The results:

- 16 vehicles were fuel-dipped – all passed
- 1 immediate prohibition for defective tyre – below legal tread
- 5 deferred prohibitions – 2 for defective steering, 1 for defective ABS system, 1 for defective wheel nuts, and 1 for excessive corrosion
- 1 person given a warning for possession of herbal cannabis
- 2 vehicles seized – 1 for no insurance, and 1 for a revoked driving licence
- 1 person reported for no vehicle tax
- 1 Vehicle Defect Rectification Scheme (VDRS) order given out for illegal number plate
- 9 fixed penalty notices issued for various offences including no MoT, defective exhausts, and illegal number plates.
- an additional two fixed penalty notices were given out – one for no MoT and one for a defective tyre.

Chains cut to steal bike

THIEVES slipped into a back garden and cut chains and padlocks to steal a motorcycle. The theft took place in Beaufort Court, Haverhill, between 4.30am and 7.30am on Monday. A spokesman for Suffolk Police said: "A rear garden was entered and chains and padlocks cut in order to steal a green and white Kawasaki 125 KMX motorcycle index HN52FZP. "Calls relating to this theft or the whereabouts of the stolen vehicle should be made to Mildenhall Police on (01284) 774100."

Garage and van raided

TOOLS were stolen from a secured garage and from the van parked inside. The burglary took place between 7:30pm last Thursday and 8am the following day in Falklands Road, Haverhill. A spokesman for Suffolk Police said: "Entry was forced to a garage and a number of tools were stolen. "While inside the offender also forced entry to a silver Mercedes van and stole more tools." What a feeling: George Wilding celebrates getting some of the hottest tickets to next year's Olympics in London.

Picture: Keith Heppell 747709.

BY RACHEL ALLEN & ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SPORTS-mad teenager couldn't believe his luck when he found out he had tickets for not one but two Olympic events – one of which is the 100 metres final.

George Wilding, of Cordwainer Close, Kedington had applied for tickets worth £600 but hadn't in his wildest dreams imagined he would be going to two of the events.

The 15-year-old, who is captain of Babraham Cricket Club under-15s, said: "I got an email on Saturday night; it said I had been allocated some tickets. I got the email to say what ones I had got a few days later.

"I had to double check as I just couldn't believe it and it was quite early in the morning.

"When I applied my friends didn't think I would get any and now I've got them they don't believe me and my teammates are jealous too.

"To be honest I would have been happy even if I had just got one. I'm on cloud nine at the minute and I'm counting down the days."

The tickets are for a sailing event on August 6, 2012, and the coveted 100 metres sprint final on August 5 at the Olympic Stadium.

The Linton Community College student, who is going on his own, said: "I have got a bit of travelling to do. I'll be staying with my grandparents who live near the stadium and because the event doesn't start until the evening I think I'm going to have a walk around the Olympic village and see what's going on."

His dad John Wilding, 57, said: "I played a practical joke on him after he heard back and said I had sold his 100 metres ticket for £1,000 – he was gutted.

"He says he doesn't care about the money but wants to have the experience of a lifetime."

Secondary pupils share tips on healthy lifestyles with primary children

HELPFUL students at a Haverhill school shared their knowledge with younger pupils during a series of healthy lifestyles workshops.

Year 5 pupils at New Cangle Primary School, based in Chapple Drive, took part in classes planned, organised and delivered by year 10 Health and Social Care students from Castle Manor.

Teams from the Eastern Avenue secondary school were led by youngsters Billie Cork and Shannon Taylor with the aim of teaching their juniors about healthy eating, diet, exercise, and lifestyle choices.

Staff at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College backed the opportunity after students expressed a wish to work within the community and apply skills learned in class.

Assistant headteacher Matthew Gill, who teaches on the health and social care course, said: "The students planned all these activities themselves.

"We are so proud of the professional and enthusiastic way in which our students approached this challenge and we hope to be able to work with some other primary schools in the town soon."

School's not taking part in strike, but we're backing those who are

Sir, the staff at this closing middle school are in support of the industrial action being taken regarding pensions today.

The long-term value of teachers' pensions has already been cut by 15 per cent.

The Government wishes to increase contributions by 50 per cent.

The Government wishes to increase the normal pension age for every teacher – up to 68 for some.

The House of Commons Public Accounts Committee and the National Audit Office have both confirmed that costs are falling. This follows the changes made regarding increased contributions and retirement age, and capped employers' contributions, in 2007.

We believe that the proposed new changes will have an adverse effect on teacher recruitment and retention, and that this will be to the detriment of pupils' education.

We have worked very hard to protect our students from the disruption already imposed by the county's reorganisation of schools. As this popular and very successful school is being closed down on July 22, we feel it would not be fair to our students to cause further disruption by taking strike action.

We are, therefore, open as normal. The staff are writing to their MPs and to the Secretary of State for Education about the issue of pensions.

HAVERHILL CHORAL SOCIETY

Haverhill Choral Society's annual summer concert to mark its 150th anniversary attracted a good audience to the town's Arts Centre in High Street on Sunday, June 19.

The society has improved both musically and numerically in recent years, mainly due to the appointment of Jane Wright as musical director. Her expertise in choral training comes across very powerfully, giving the choir balance, precision and presentation. The theme for the evening featured both animal and romantic themes, sometimes both at once.

The programme began with two nursery rhymes – Sing a Song of Sixpence and Old Mother Hubbard – in the style of Handel, setting the tone for the evening. This was followed by Memory from Cats by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Duet for Two Cats by Rossini.

In between, the choir sang The Silver

Swan by 17th century composer Orlando Gibbons. The choir concluded the first half with Edelweiss from The Sound of Music and An Irish Blessing by Chilcott. There followed a performance from Samuel Ward, superbly presented with combined melody, harmony and movement of the highest order. All were a credit to their college, and in particular to their director and trainer Oliver Furse.

The second half began with the choir and The Vicar of Dibley theme followed by Sakura sung in Japanese.

The penultimate item was We've Only Just Begun, a look forward to the next 150 years of the Haverhill Choral Society. After another performance by Samuel Ward Academy's vocal group, both choirs joined for a finale of John Rutter's All Things Bright and Beautiful to bring an appropriate ending to an excellent musical evening enjoyed by both performance and audience.

HAVERHILL ANGLING CLUB

The latest Haverhill Angling club outing took place last Sunday on home waters at the flood park. The day started well with Jason Jeggo toppling over his tackle barrow before he got to his swim, I have the photos if anyone wishes to see.

The day was due to be a hot one and it did not disappoint, with most of the larger bream showing early on but as the sun rose the bigger fish backed off and the pole fishermen came into their own.

Some of the larger carp did not want to feed and were seen around the lake basking in the sunshine so it was a battle to see how many silver fish could be netted to make up the weights.

On the weigh-in Peter Griggs, when asked what he caught his fish on only replied bait, so no clues there then, but Dave Pennycook won the day, just beating Rupert Beynon into first place with 19lb 15oz fishing worm on the cage feeder to the island and caster on the pole at 14 meters, with Rupert catching 19lb 2oz using a method feeder to the island with strawberry flavoured pellets on the hook.

Dave Rees took third using the pole and double pinkie on the hook. The next match will take place at Home farm Little Walden this Sunday July 3, draw at 8am.

Anyone who would like to come along to a friendly match please give Jason Jeggo, the match secretary, a call on 079620 55307.

Police in appeal over boxers theft

THREE pairs of boxer shorts worth a total of £6 were stolen from a clothes store.

CCTV images have been released of a man police want to question about a theft of the underwear from Peacocks in High Street, Haverhill.

Store manager Hannah Faulkner explained staff didn't notice the bargain boxers were missing until an empty packet of men's black shorts were left on a shelf.

The image shows a man entering Peacocks store around the time that the theft occurred.

Police are looking to speak to the man in the image about the theft on Friday, June 3 at 11.30am.

A police spokeswoman described a suspect as being a "white man, in his mid-20s, of slim build, 185cms tall, wearing a dark T-shirt, denim jeans, black trainers and short hair".

Anyone who recognises the man in the CCTV image should call PC Matthew Egan at Haverhill police station on (01284) 774100.

Fingerprint bid to curb trouble

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COCKTAIL bar owner has found himself in the spotlight after investing in expensive new technology to make his premises more safe and popular.

Harry Zachariou, owner of Bar Vu in Jubilee Walk, Haverhill, has featured on regional television and radio programmes since he installed "club scan" system on the door of the venue a month ago, which takes people's fingerprints before they enter.

And after receiving "99.9 per cent positive feedback" from his customers, Mr Zachariou is delighted to be one of the driving forces behind Haverhill being put on the map for the quality of nightlife.

The 39-year-old said: "Whenever something new appears there is always a reaction but I didn't expect it to be so positive. My customers love it."

"Out of 1,400 people we have only had one complaint about the scans and I think that is because fears are the details could be used by police, but that is not the case."

The system is the same as is used in top nightclubs in London where customers

Security: Bar Vu now requires customers to give a fingerprint provide their fingerprint on entry.

Mr Zachariou and his bar manager are the only ones with access to the information. It allows them to know who is in the bar and allows them to ban any trouble makers and prevent under-age drinking.

Mr Zachariou, who has owned Déjà vu café in Queen Street for nine years and Bar Vu, which is above a tapas restaurant, for 18 months, added: "We have never had any trouble before so this is about prevention, not a cure."

"We are trying to better ourselves and it has been great to see Haverhill linked with an interesting and unusual story for a change."

"The aim is to make the environment safer so people want to stay longer and have a good time, and we want to be trendy and cutting edge in everything we do."

"People have come up to me and said they now feel Haverhill is reaching the standards that their friends want to visit, from places like Cambridge and Bury, for a night out and it is no longer embarrassing to invite them."

Bar Vu is open on Friday and Saturday evenings, with plans to open on Thursday nights in the near future.

For more information, and to book parties, visit www.bar-vu.co.uk.

Hospital's five-star when it comes to catering

THE catering service at West Suffolk Hospital has been awarded five stars for meeting the highest standards of hygiene and food safety.

The top score comes following an inspection by St Edmundsbury Borough Council carried out earlier this month.

It covers all aspects of the hospital's catering service, including inpatient meals, the Time Out staff restaurant and the Courtyard Café, which is open to the public. The award shows that the hospital's catering service "demonstrates best practice in achieving very high standards of compliance with food safety legislation".

It was awarded as part of a scheme called 'scores on the doors' and takes into account procedures around hygiene, safety, structure and cleanliness, as well as the systems in place for managing food production.

Flower displays are bright and beautiful

A COLOURFUL flower festival brought an Essex village to life last weekend.

The event was organised by the Friends of Sturmer Church at St Mary's in the village near Haverhill last Saturday and Sunday, to raise money for the upkeep and maintenance of the church.

The Haverhill Flower Club also worked hard to make the 11th century building look bright and beautiful, with flower arrangements on the theme of children's books and films.

Stephanie Power, a church warden, said: "The day went very well and was very successful. It was well attended on both days.

"There were 24 different arrangements and included Harry Potter, Lord of the Rings, The Wizard of Oz, Finding Nemo, Cinderella and Alice in Wonderland.

"To celebrate the 400th anniversary of the King James Bible, there was also a special arrangement to look like that."

A tombola and refreshments were also on sale. The weekend closed on Sunday afternoon with a songs of praise service.

Patchwork quilt tells stories of village life

A PATCHWORK quilt made by local people was on display for the first time at a church's flower festival.

The mammoth textiles effort was part of a Heritage Lottery project called "Sharing Stories", which saw a group of volunteers from Weston Colville make the patchwork together, led by artist Penelope Lutoslawski.

The work incorporated scenes of the village and commemorated events, people and places.

And on Saturday, it was unveiled at St Mary's Church in the Cambridgeshire village during their church flower festival.

Wild and garden flowers were on show during the day with a free concert rounding off the day from Whiteacre Clarinet Quartet.

The Sharing Stories project is run by Inspire, a group which supports arts-based projects in Cambridgeshire, and is set to last for a total of 18 months ending this September with a final exhibition and celebration.

Through oral history interviews, research, and creative workshops, the project has built a unique picture of life in the village over the last 100 years.

Walkers in cash quest for Jessica

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE loved ones of a teenager who died after a 16-month battle with cancer have completed a 96-mile walk in her memory.

Jessica Gower, of Arrendene Road, Haverhill, died of primary bone cancer in December at just 14 years old.

Team Jess, consisting of the teenager's parents, Shirley and Mic, her little sister, Isabelle, and seven other family members and friends, braved challenging weather conditions to complete the West Highland Way walk between May 21 and 27.

Her family had set an initial fundraising target of £3,000, but the team has raised an incredible £14,947 for charity so far, and at least another £2,000 has been promised.

Mrs Gower said: "We have received so many messages of love and support and want to say a heartfelt thank-you to every single person who has made a donation in memory of Jess, and in support of The Bone Cancer Research Trust.

"We hope to one day save the lives of other children and help prevent further tragedies like ours.

"Jess was a very special person and she deserved a better chance of beating this terrible disease."

Pictures: CP

Mr Gower said: "The weather was against us on the walk but the beautiful scenery and thoughts of Jess's smile, determination and positive spirit spurred us on.

"We have made memories that will stay with us forever."

Jessica's friends at Linton Village College are staging Jestonbury, a fundraising event at the school where Jessica was a pupil, to raise funds for CLIC Sargent and The Bone Cancer Research Trust.

The day will feature live music, a craft stall, a raffle and a bouncy castle. It will take the theme of lemons, because of a comment made by Jessica on her facebook page: "When life gives you lemons, keep them, because, hey, free lemons."

Everyone is welcome to the event on Saturday, July 16, between noon and 3pm.

To make a donation, visit www.justgiving.com/Shirley-Gower.

Pre-school celebrates outstanding Ofsted report

Top marks: Staff and children at Happy Faces pre-school in Haverhill celebrate their outstanding Ofsted report. Picture: CP

IT was Happy Faces by name and happy faces by nature as a pre-school celebrated being given a top rating by Ofsted.

Happy Faces Pre-school, based in Jane Garrod House, in Colne Valley Road, Haverhill, received an "outstanding" verdict for its early years provision following an inspection on May 16 this year.

The centre, set up and run by committee since 1997, was particularly highly complimented by the independent schools' inspectorate body for the "exceptional knowledge" of staff members.

It was noted that children were "extremely

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

motivated and excited" by the activities organised.

The report stated: "Overall, the quality of provision is outstanding.

"The setting delivers all aspects of the Early Years Foundation Stage to an exceptionally high standard.

"Robust procedures and policies are expertly put into practice by the stable and long-standing team of adults working at the pre-school.

"Children are provided with superb opportunities to guide their own play and make excellent progress in all areas of learning."

The report continued by praising staff for constantly monitoring and improving the learning environment.

Elaine Hatfield, manager at the pre-school, which takes on youngsters up to the age of five, said: "Our committee, staff and parents have all worked extremely hard to achieve this outcome.

"I think what makes Happy Faces so special is the work we do with parents on a daily basis to make sure the children get the best.

"Our parents support the school so well and have been fantastic. For example, they arranged a brilliant royal wedding party recently and also chose the uniform."

However, the Ofsted report felt that the pre-school could improve even further if more effort was made to "provide further opportunities for parents to share in their children's learning".

Happy Faces has free spaces for children this September, with fees remaining at £5.50 per child per session.

Sessions are from 9.30am to 12.30pm during the week. For more information, phone (01440) 762515.

Gazebo inspires youth team to victory

A GROUP committed to helping the community has provided shelter from the elements for a junior football team.

The Haverhill Lions club, which meets twice monthly at the town's Ex-Servicemen's Club in Quaker's Lane, donated two gazebos to Kedington Youth FC to use during tournaments.

Club secretary Len Russell handed the gifts over and said the group were delighted to be able to help.

He said: "Lions are all for helping out in the community and what could be better than helping young people and encouraging sports and activities?"

The gazebos went straight into action at a tournament last Saturday which Kedington went on to win – their first ever tournament victory.

The team's manager Neil Mustoe said: "We would like to thank the Lions for supplying these gazebos.

"We have attended many tournaments over the years where the lads have had to sit under blazing sun or in the rain between matches, but now they can have some shelter."

Spot the difference.

Homes firm celebrating its success

Company opens second office

A REAL estate business was in the mood to celebrate as it continued to buck the nationwide trend by going from strength to strength.

CXG Property Services of Haverhill's High Street recently completed its first £1m house sale and has now opened a second office on the same street to help deal with its growing number of clients.

And West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock was on hand to cut the ribbon and show his support for business in Haverhill, accompanied by county councillor for the town, Anne Gower.

Mr Hancock said: "It was a pleasure to visit CXG with Anne Gower, and see their business first-hand.

"The quality of housing is an important issue in Haverhill. I also listened to CXG's thoughts on changes that need to be made in the rules to make the benefits system fairer, and look forward to working with them in the future."

Robert Pilley, director of CXG, said: "Matthew has been very supportive and has noticed we have been progressing rapidly. We have recently completed our first £1m deal and are a year ahead of our business plan.

"Haverhill is a growing town and hopefully we are evidence that businesses can still do well and expand.

"We had a good relationship with the previous MP Richard Spring and he opened our original office, so it is nice that the new MP is here to open our new one."

The firm will now operate from two separate offices in High Street – one for estate agency and investments, and the other for lettings.

The MP was also keen to praise CXG for supporting apprenticeship schemes, with the firm taking on two apprentices each year.

Mr Hancock, on a day tour of his constituency, also stopped by Stoke College in Stoke-by-Clare on Friday where he met new headmaster Matthew Parker and heard the school's plans for the future, as well as Place Court residential home in Camps Road, Haverhill, for a tour of their new facilities.

Engineering firm throws weight behind building links with education

A HAVERHILL firm has agreed to furnish a number of West Suffolk College students with a grant, work experience and a guaranteed interview for an apprenticeship.

Four companies from across the region, including Delstar Engineering in Haverhill, have struck a deal with West Suffolk College which will see the businesses sponsor selected students aged between 16 and 19 on a full-time Performing Engineering Operations course, which starts in September.

The firms will supply a £250 grant which students can put towards the cost of course equipment, books and overalls.

The companies will also provide students with work experience for a day or two a week throughout the academic year, and an interview for an apprenticeship with the firm at the end of the course – if one is available.

Gary Clarke, head of the faculty of arts and technology at the college, said: "This collaboration between the college and local employers is very positive news. The scheme is a direct response to the real need for apprentices and skilled workers in engineering and manufacturing, a section of the economy that is booming in the region."

Householders alerted to electricity top-up scam

HAVERHILL residents have been warned by police to beware of criminals selling electricity top-ups on doorsteps.

Prepayment meter fraud is increasing, and at least one district in Suffolk has already been affected.

In Ipswich, the scam has involved fraudsters knocking on doors and offering electricity top-ups worth £50 for about £25.

But energy companies only ever sell top-ups through PayPoint, Payzone and the Post Office, and can identify illegally topped-up meters, so customers may be forced to pay for their energy twice.

More than 230,000 incidents involving 127,000 customers have been recorded across the country, at an estimated cost to customers of £7 million. In Ipswich alone, 2,043 offences have been recorded, affecting 926 properties.

Energy companies are working with the police to tackle energy fraud. Top-up Safe, a national campaign, is alerting customers to the risks involved in buying illegal top-ups.

'Asbo' home is up for rent

A HOME which was given its own anti-social behaviour order more than two months ago is now up for rent.

Magistrates at a court in Bury St Edmunds have decided to discharge the closure order on 4 Strasbourg Square, Haverhill, following an application by police.

The closure ruling was made on April 19 after the flat's tenants were judged to have caused misery for neighbours over the previous 11 months due to their persistent anti-social and criminal behaviour.

The move by Haverhill Police, under section 11 of the Anti-Social Behaviour Act 2003, meant the tenants were kicked out. The house was boarded up and set to remain vacant until a review three months later.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

But on Thursday, June 21, the court heard that Havebury Housing, which owns the property, right, wanted to re-let it to a new tenant.

Magistrates were satisfied after hearing evidence from Sgt Bartley of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team that the order was no longer necessary and no further incidents had been reported or complaints received by the police about the flat.

It was only the second time anti-social behaviour legislation had ever been used in Suffolk to close a property.

Boy's swollen face turned out to be life-threatening condition

Family portrait: The Hioms (minus eldest son Jake) at home in Little Paxton. Picture: Warren Gunn 743677

WHEN most toddlers cough in the night, their parents barely notice. But when Graham and Gilly Hiom hear their little boy coughing, their hearts sink. Because 2-year-old Louis has nephrotic syndrome, a rare kidney condition that causes the body to retain fluids, leading to alarming swelling in his face and body.

"They don't know what causes it, but they know there's a link somewhere with a virus," explains Graham, 45. "So if his body is low anyway, that's when it could come back. Any illness could trigger another attack."

It all began one Saturday morning last November when Louis, the youngest of the Hioms' five children, woke up with a noticeably puffy face.

"He looked like he'd been stung by a bee, and reacted on both eyes," remembers Gilly, 44. "They'd totally swollen up and reduced his eyes to slits."

Initially the couple, who live in Little Paxton near St Neots, thought it might be his sinuses, and were relieved when the swelling began to go down. But Louis slept badly that night, and the following morning his face was puffy again: "And he was definitely under the weather. He was quiet – he's usually running around and loud and full of life," says Gilly.

Taking him to the doctor first thing on Monday morning, Gilly was told that it was probably just a virus, but the doctor asked her to bring in a urine sample just to be sure.

At this stage, Gilly wasn't worried: "When you've got five children, you see a few different things, and you want to put it down to 'oh, it's just a virus', or 'it's just something that's made his face swell up but it's going to go away again.'" And, after dropping the urine sample in to the surgery the following morning, she thought little of it and went to the supermarket.

But, just as she got to the checkout, her mobile rang: it was the doctor, telling her to take Louis straight to hospital.

"My heart was really thumping," says Gilly. "I was going through the till thinking 'stay calm, stay calm'. I couldn't wait to get in the car and ring Graham."

Gilly rushed Louis to Hinchbrook and, when a doctor stripped him, she noticed that his ankles had swollen up too. He then began to vomit.

Shortly afterwards Graham, a freelance project manager in the banking sector, arrived: "We were sitting there, wondering what was going on, and one of the senior renal doctors came round and said there was a strong indication that it was nephrotic syndrome," he recalls.

"She said 'don't go on the internet, because there's all sorts of horror stories on there', and then broadly explained what the condition was."

They were told that nephrotic syndrome is a rare condition in which the body's own immune system attacks the kidneys, causing the body to retain more water than it should – hence the frightening swelling.

Thankfully most children grow out of it by puberty – although repeated attacks are likely until then, and there is a very real chance of permanent damage to the kidneys, thrombosis, and life-threatening infections.

In order to treat Louis, doctors needed to start him on a course of strong steroids but, as he was being violently sick, he couldn't keep the medication down. And as his body filled with fluid, the swelling began to spread.

"He had thighs and calves and feet the size of an elephant – they were huge, absolutely huge," remembers Gilly with a shudder.

"He couldn't put his pyjama bottoms on; we had to rip all the ankles to get them over his legs. And he couldn't walk at that point, because it was just too painful with all the fluid."

Eventually doctors had to insert a cannula to give Louis the steroids, which suppressed his immune system to stop it attacking his kidneys.

"But by doing that you're just opening him up to anything," says Graham. "And there were kids in the hospital with sickness bugs; that's why we wanted him home as soon as possible."

Louis was finally discharged the following Tuesday, and Gilly and Graham had to ban their children – Jake, 19, Georgia, 17, Caitlin, 15, and 3-year-old Lucy – from having friends round: "We've normally got a houseful of people and we just didn't want it," says Gilly.

"Even family who wanted to come and visit him, we said well, on the morning you can ring us and tell us how you are, and you need to accept that we might say 'sorry, visit's off'."

Not only did his suppressed immune system mean that Louis was liable to catch any illness – and not be able to fight it if he did, but the steroids had another unfortunate side effect: a raging thirst and hunger.

"To start with he was limited to 750mls of fluid a day to make sure his kidneys could process it," remembers Gilly. "He kept crying 'drink mum, drink mum!' and I had to try and distract him until he stopped asking, which was so painful."

And, as the weeks went on, all Louis could think about was food. "On Christmas morning, we'd laid his stocking out and there were presents all over the floor, but he just said 'Breakfast Dad!' So he sat there eating with all his presents beside him; he just wasn't interested in them," says Graham. "Food was his world."

By the end of January, Louis was off the steroids and is now officially in remission. But Gilly still has to dip-test his urine every couple of days: if the dip is clear, his kidneys are working; if there's protein present, the chances are he's about to relapse.

"My heart still pumps," she says. "It doesn't matter how many times you do it, you still feel the same every time. But so far we haven't even seen a trace."

"But every morning when we get him out of the cot, we're looking at his face, his ankles, his knees, and we look at each other and say 'do his eyes look puffy?'" adds Graham.

"Because he's the baby, he was the worst one to get it from an emotional perspective, because you are over-protective. And we've had a couple of darker days when we've looked at the support forum on the NeST (Nephrotic Syndrome Trust) website. All of them start with 'I took my little boy to the hospital, he was 2 years old...' and it's the start of what has become a horrendous journey of six, seven, years and they've given up hope; they're desperate people crying out for help, and all of them started at the same place we were."

"So if you think about the dark side, it can be very upsetting. But there's no reason to get melancholy about it, because there's a very good chance that by the time he's 11 or 12 he'll have got through it."

And, adds Graham, he's never let himself imagine that he might lose Louis: "I always knew he was in safe hands. I was more concerned with the impact on him as an adult," he admits.

"We had our first lot when we were very young, then Lucy wasn't planned, as you can imagine! And then we decided we wanted to have another one to keep Lucy company."

"But we were very conscious that we were older parents, and if Louis is poorly in his 20s and 30s, there's a good chance we're not going to be around, or not in a fit state to help. So I had a very, very emotional conversation with Jake about looking after him – and that was tough."

But the Hioms are determined to stay positive and, already a keen swimmer, Graham has started doing gruelling events to raise money for NeST, including a 24-hour swim and a triathlon.

He is attempting the 'Everest' of open-water swimming when he does a three-man relay crossing of the Channel to France and back in one go. But he's not worried about the cold, exhaustion or potential jellyfish stings: "I'm more worried about the detritus if a ferry's dumped its toilets – you can swim through some horrendous stuff!" he laughs.

"But I'm massively excited. We've all worked really hard to get there, and we're all confident."

And Graham, who's lost three stone this year through all his training, has one key way of staying motivated: "Whenever I'm struggling, be it running, cycling or swimming, I generally refer to Louis, and think if Louis is fighting this, then the least I can do is keep going."

Nephrotic Syndrome

■ About 10,000 people in the UK have nephrotic syndrome, a potentially devastating condition in which the natural filtering ability of the kidney breaks down, with a consequent massive leak of essential proteins from the bloodstream into the urine. This results in the body swelling, and complications such as infections, thrombosis and kidney failure.

Cyclists get bike tour call

BIKE riders from across Suffolk are being urged to take on the challenge of their lives and sign up for the East Anglia Tour Ride to raise funds for The Prostate Cancer Charity.

Cyclists in the region will have the opportunity to experience part of the official Tour of Britain route on Sunday, July 24, ahead of the professionals in September.

Riders can choose between the 200km route from Bury St Edmunds to Sandringham or shorter 100km journey – starting in Diss and finishing in Sandringham – while raising awareness of prostate cancer and raising cash.

This is the first year that East Anglia has been included in The Prostate Cancer Charity's Tour Rides, which saw 4,500 amateur riders take part in three events last year, raising more than £520,000.

Kathy Gosling, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for sport and wellbeing, said: "This is a fantastic opportunity for people to get a piece of the Tour of Britain action for themselves.

"Cycling is certainly taking off in Suffolk and following on from last year's success I am confident that this year's Tour of Britain will inspire an even greater interest in the fantastic range of cycle routes in Suffolk."

Charity-minded bride says "I don't" to wedding presents

A BRIDE shunned wedding gifts on her big day to help a local hospice.

Victoria Jobson, who lives in Hundon, near Haverhill, with her new husband Scott, decided to say "I do" to helping St Nicholas Hospice Care on her wedding day by asking guests to make a donation to the charity instead of buying the couple presents.

Mrs Jobson, née Langdon, told friends and family before the occasion that she and Scott had no need for gifts and instead asked for the donations in memory of her mother, Patricia Langdon, who spent time at the hospice in 2009.

She said: "I thought Scott and I had everything we needed so it was a good opportunity to give something back.

"Places like the hospice are vital. Fortunately, my mum was here before she passed away, rather than on a busy ward."

The newlywed has since visited the hospice to hand over £580 to Sue Long, Hospice community fundraiser.

Mrs Long said: "We're overwhelmed that Victoria and Scott were so thoughtful on their wedding day. Donations such as this allow the hospice to keep helping those who need it."

Victoria and Scott celebrated their wedding at the Hundon Plough and plan to honeymoon in Rhodes later this summer.

St Nicholas Hospice Care runs establishments across the region, helping to care for people with life-shortening illnesses, as well as offering advice and support to families.

Over to you: Victoria Jobson presents her cheque to the hospice's Sue Long.

Helpers reaching out to new area

AN organisation which works to help local people get more out of life is expanding into Haverhill.

Suffolk Circle, which has already become established in and around Bury St Edmunds, will now cover Haverhill for the first time, bringing fresh events to the town and encouraging people to sign up as members.

Belinda Bell, Suffolk Circle chief executive, said: "Suffolk Circle is a new kind of organisation. We offer members handy bits of help that make life easier and social opportunities to make life more fun.

"Joining us is a great way to get things done and meet new people."

Members are encouraged to get together for a variety of activities such as trips and learning new skills. They can also buy tokens which can be used to get help from other members in areas such as gardening, DIY, computer skills and transport – a scheme known as Helperselp, in which skills are shared through the circle.

The tokens can then be used to pay for activities and events.

Mrs Bell added: "As a membership organisation we respond to what our members ask for and that has been for us to grow.

"More and more members have been joining us from around Haverhill and are asking us to help grow their network of helpers and friends."

Membership is open to everybody over 50 years of age and costs £35 per year or £2.50 per month. Membership includes a monthly newsletter, access to a team of helpers, a monthly calendar of events and special offers at a range of local shops and cafes.

Upcoming nearby events include the last night of the festival proms at the Old Independent Church, in Haverhill's Hamlet Road, on Sunday at 7.30pm for three tokens, and a walk through Clare Country Park at 11am on Saturday, July 30, for free.

Members will also be on hand in Tesco, Haverhill, from 9am until 4pm on Thursday, July 21, with information on how to join.

Police link with charity in bid to combat incidents of learning disability hate crime

SUFFOLK police have signed up to Mencap's policing promise to help end hate crime against people with learning disabilities.

The move commits police forces to 10 promises, including a commitment to challenge any discriminatory attitudes among officers and to stop categorising disability hate crime as anti-social behaviour.

The move came in Learning Disability Week, which ended last Sunday, during which Mencap launched Stand By Me, a campaign to fight disability hate crime and, in particular, to improve the way police forces deal with it.

The learning disability charity's Don't Stand By hate crime research report was compiled with the help of 14 police forces, including Suffolk's.

The research has highlighted good practice and has made 22 recommendations for police forces to follow in a bid to improve the way they deal with disability hate crime.

Paul Marshall, Suffolk police assistant chief constable, said: "We strongly believe that by working together with disabled people we can engender trust and confidence to encourage disabled people to report disability hate incidents in the knowledge that they will be dealt with seriously and sympathetically."

To contact Suffolk police, visit www.suffolk.police.uk, call the Suffolk Hate Crime Service on 01473 668966 or 999 in an emergency.

The dream finally came true for Keith

HEY JOE:
Keith Jack has finally realised his dream of playing Joseph

Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Cambridge Corn Exchange, until July 3. For times and ticket prices, and to book, contact (01223) 357851 / www.comex.co.uk.

ANY dream will do, as the song goes; but for Keith Jack, baby-faced runner-up of that particular BBC talent show, there was only one – to get his hands on that coat of many colours.

Until recently, the dream looked distant. Told he looked too young to play the lead, the 19-year-old lost out by a hair's breadth to Lee Mead in the nation's search for the next Joseph in 2007.

Now 23, the former checkout boy from Dalkeith, Midlothian, has finally made it – and feels he's bringing some of his own journey to the role.

"It's a bit of a relief really," says Keith. "It's been four years since Any Dream Will Do and I didn't think I'd ever get the chance to do it, so to finally be here is fantastic.

"Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat is such a well-loved show, people know it from when they were children, and it's got all those classic songs. It's a great show to be part of – it sends you away with a smile on your face."

Keith has been stepping out in the role of Joseph since the tour reprised this time last year, having played the narrator to Craig Chalmers' Joseph on the previous tour.

"That was great," he says, "but I feel that Joseph is a better character for me. He moves on from being a little boy to becoming the Prince of Egypt, and I was just a boy when I did the programme – but now I feel a lot more mature so I can tell what he would be feeling. I think you bring a bit of yourself to the character, so hopefully I'll bring a bit of what I've been through to the role."

Keith proved a popular contestant on the BBC1 show; his vocals were considered the strongest by many, and supporters have since posted YouTube videos of alternate endings where Keith took the title. In fact, the newly buffed-up star (he's been hitting the gym every day since clinching the deal) is learning to cope with a more than modest amount of fan mail. "I get letters all the time," he said, "I've even had underwear sent, too."

For Keith and most of the other fresh-faced stars in the making, Any Dream Will Do was their first taste of fame, taking them out of their everyday lives and into the limelight where they performed live each week to five million viewers.

"I can't even describe it," he says. "People disappeared every week, so it seemed to go really quickly; yet it went really slowly when you were waiting to find out if you'd been voted out. At my first audition in Glasgow I remember being really, really nervous. I didn't even think I'd get through the first round, let alone to the final."

Despite coming in second, Keith has some fantastic memories. "Working with people like Andrew Lloyd Webber and John Barrowman was incredible," he says. "I've learned a lot about myself as a performer and as a person. I got on really well with them all – I still text John a lot and I'm working for Bill Kenwright.

"I think the programme and the Dorothy show and Maria one since has been great for musical theatre.

"It's brought in a whole new audience of people who maybe wouldn't go and see a show before."

Along with his own theatrical pursuits, since Any Dream Will Do Keith has established a drama school in Edinburgh to encourage other young performers.

"We've got about 100 youngsters and it's nice because it's teaching them about how to progress with this everchanging industry, so we teach them new techniques all the time, and about being able to command a stage.

"I teach when I can. I'll be there in the summer when we have a week off from Joseph, so that'll be nice. I really enjoy it."

So, now he's achieved his dream of playing Joseph, are there any other roles he's got his eye on for the future? "I'd love to do Marius in Les Mis and Raul in Phantom of the Opera... and I'd love Andrew Lloyd Webber to bring back The Starlight Express so I could do Rusty."

Darkly amusing Irish play is a real beauty

Modern world mayhem

The Beauty Queen of Leenane, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until July 2

LEADING LIGHT:
Rosaleen Linehan

THE Young Vic visit the Cambridge Arts Theatre for the first time this summer with their critically acclaimed production of The Beauty Queen of Leenane.

Winner of the Evening Standard, Critics' Circle and Writers' Guild awards for Best New Play, it has generated rave reviews for its horrific yet humorous vision of rural Ireland.

High in the mountains of Galway lives lonely spinster Maureen and her manipulative mother, Mag. Maureen longs for the romance that will spirit her away. But if she goes, who will stir the lumps out of Mag's Complan?

Written by Oscar-winner Martin McDonagh, who also won a Bafta for the film In Bruges, The Beauty Queen of Leenane is a darkly comic, touching production from one of the country's most innovative theatre companies. The production is directed by Joe Hill-Gibbins, deputy artistic director for the Young Vic.

The cast is led by one of Ireland's foremost actors, Rosaleen Linehan, whose credits include Dancing at Lughnasa on Broadway, numerous appearances with Ireland's Abbey theatre and Neil Jordan's film, The Butcher Boy.

She is joined by Derbhle Crotty (Notes on a Scandal), Frank Lavery (Michael Collins, Angela's Ashes) and Johnny Ward (This Must be the Place).

The show starts at 7.45pm. Tickets start at £15 from (01223) 503333/www.cambridgearts theatre.com.

BELINDA Lang returns to the Cambridge Arts Theatre next week, starring in Michael Frayn's Alarms & Excursions – a cautionary tale about gadgets and gizmos. When four friends sit down for a quiet evening in, they find their peace disturbed by a series of bells, buzzers and a troublesome hi-tech corkscrew. A politician is lost for words when the autocue goes off script and an in-flight announcement ends with more than a seatbelt coming undone...

Described as "a clever, light buffet of ideas from a master of observational comedy", Alarms & Excursions looks at what happens when the modern world goes wrong, and proves that gadgets designed to make life easier often just provide new forms of torment.

This latest revival also contains new material written especially for the 2011 tour. Alarms & Excursions runs from July 4 - 9. Tickets start at £15 and performances are at 7.45pm. Phone (01223) 503333 or see www.cambridgearts theatre.com.

The big film

certificate 15 125m

AFTER months if not years of meticulous planning, and agonising decisions about the tiniest details, it's ironic that abiding memories of a wedding can often be completely out of the control of the bride and groom. The dress might be stunning, the cake heavenly and the reception organised with military precision, but the big day can easily become a big disaster thanks to bad weather or the rapidly deteriorating sobriety of the best man.

In 2009, cinema audiences shared in the pain of one groom-to-be as he overcame an almighty Hangover to make it to the church on time.

Now, we're witnesses to the devastation wrought by a blushing bride, her maid of honour and four bridesmaids in Paul Feig's raucous comedy of errors, which proves that anything the guys can do, the gals can do better. Bridesmaids is smarter, funnier and emotionally deeper than The Hangover, introducing us to a menagerie of neurotic, self-obsessed yet ultimately lovable ladies, who are one extra spicy

Mexican meal away from catastrophe.

Kristen Wiig and Annie Mumolo's script is an embarrassment of hysterical riches, anchored by winning performances from a talented ensemble cast.

Annie (Wiig) used to own her own bakery but she has fallen on hard times and now works as a jewellery saleswoman.

She assuages the pain with occasional no-strings-attached sex with handsome oaf Ted (Jon Hamm), who clearly has no intention of settling down.

Best friend Lillian (Maya Rudolph) reveals she is getting married and asks a clearly delighted Annie to be maid of honour.

Without two dimes to rub together, organising a bridal shower to remember will be tricky for Annie, especially as one of the bridesmaids is socialite wife Helen (Rose Byrne).

Fellow bridesmaids Megan (Melissa McCarthy), Becca (Ellie Kemper) and Rita (Wendi McLendon-Covey) witness the fallout as Annie and Helen vie for Lillian's affections.

Meanwhile, Annie kindles a tender romance with police officer Nathan Rhodes (Chris O'Dowd), who despairs at her antics and correctly surmises, "You're like the Maid Of Dishonour!"

Bridesmaids is two hours of filthy-minded joy that will have you crying with laughter.

Not in my backyard!

SO many of us turn detective at this time of year, trying to identify pests feasting on our flowers or decimating our crops.

But even the experts can get it wrong. Only last week at BBC Gardeners' World Live in Birmingham, the panellists from BBC Radio 4's Gardeners' Question Time told one gardener that gypsy moth was likely to be the culprit behind the webbing which appeared on, and caterpillars which defoliated, his cotoneaster.

However, further investigation revealed it wasn't likely to be the source of the problem, as these insects are so rare in this country.

RHS entomologist Andrew Salisbury reckons it's much more likely to be the hawthorn webber moth, which is more common in Britain.

The affected parts of the plant are covered in silk webbing produced by the caterpillars so, at first sight, it could be mistaken for the work of spiders. The only control is to inspect plants for signs of webbing and damage in late spring and late summer. If the infestation is confined to a few shoots, prune them out.

Otherwise, you may need to use an insecticide, such as pyrethrum.

Thankfully, many pest problems are easier to identify. Whitefly, for instance, are a familiar sight on ornamental plants and vegetables. These white-winged insects suck sap from underneath leaves and the foliage becomes coated with a black sooty mould.

by Hannah Stephenson

Hanging sticky traps among plants and using organic sprays based on vegetable oils or fatty acids can minimise the problem.

Matthew Biggs, a panellist on Gardeners' Question Time, suggests: "One novel method of removal is to knock the leaves and suck up the whitefly with a vacuum cleaner as they fly up into the air."

Another common problem is scale insects, the sap-suckers found on the leaves and stems of a range of plants, which hide under protective shells which vary in shape and colour.

Again, plants are weakened and 'honeydew' secretions on leaves become affected by a black sooty mould, particularly in damp weather.

To control scale insects on fruit trees and roses, treat them with an environmentally friendly winter wash in early winter. Ornamental plants can be sprayed with organic sprays.

Vine weevil is another scourge of gardeners, eating the roots of plants so that by the time the plants start to wilt, there's no going back.

BUGS BE GONE: garden invaders that can make our lives a misery and cut a swathe through our plants include the spidermite, above, and whitefly, below.

Adults are about 10mm (1/2in) long, black with pale orange spots. They hide in the dark during the day but move slowly on leaves at night, eating notches in leaf margins. The plump white larvae mainly feed on the roots of containerised plants which simply wilt and die.

In spring and summer, take a torch in the garden to check plants, pick off adult weevils and crush them. Encourage natural enemies. Vine weevils and their grubs are eaten by a variety of predators such as birds, frogs, toads, shrews, hedgehogs and predatory ground beetles.

A biological control of the larvae is available as a microscopic pathogenic nematode (Steinernema kraussei), which can be bought from suppliers of biological controls.

Apply it in August or early September when the soil temperature is warm enough for the nematode to be effective and before the vine weevil grubs have grown large enough to cause serious damage. If you're struggling to identify the pests attacking your plants, cut off a piece of plant with the offending bug, pop it in a sealed container and take it to your garden centre where staff can help.

New Yaris due

Price of ruined roads is measured in repair bills

Suspension: Broken road damage is pricey.

SUSPENSION component failures are the 'three-year glitch' most likely to cause a car to fail its first MOT, according to Warranty Direct.

The automotive insurance specialist analysed thousands of three and four-year-old cars and found that the average repair cost for cars typically leaving their manufacturer warranty period is £338.

The safety-critical ABS braking system is the second most likely part to cause extra expense at the first MOT, costing £667 to fix.

The turbocharger – fitted to nearly all diesel and many petrol cars – is the most costly repair item on the list, coming in at more than £750.

The parts most likely to fail between years three and four and their average repair costs include:

- Springs and shocks: £237.28
- ABS system: £667.04
- Upper and lower arms: £309.44
- Turbo: £751.48
- Exhaust system: £432.30.

£432.30.

Warranty Direct managing director Duncan McClure Fisher says: "A car's first MOT is a milestone in its life and memorable but not always for the right reasons.

"Three years is the age at which cars usually lose their manufacturer cover and it's no accident that it's also typically when some parts start wearing out.

"It's also no surprise that a car's springs and shock absorbers are the first items to go wrong, given the shocking state of the UK's roads."

Toyota boosts technology for third generation Yaris line-up

JAPANESE car maker Toyota has taken the wraps off its latest Yaris supermini. The third generation car will be launched in the UK this summer.

Developed from an original concept of "compact outside, spacious inside", the new Yaris signals that Toyota is further improving the clever packaging that was a hallmark of its predecessors.

Its appearance will also mark a breakthrough in its segment for affordable multimedia connectivity with the introduction of Toyota Touch & Go.

Due to be standard equipment on 95 per cent of sales, it features a 6.1-inch display with touchscreen technology for ease of use and functionality.

Manufactured at Toyota's Valenciennes factory in France, three different low-emission, fuel-efficient Toyota Optimal Drive powertrains will be available: 1.0-litre VVT-i, 1.33-litre dual VVT-i petrol units and a 1.4-litre D-4D diesel.

Inside: Extra functionality.

Vauxhall: 20% off new motors for the summer

SUMMER savings just got hotter as Vauxhall can now offer customers 20 per cent off a brand new Vauxhall.

Buyers can expect savings of nearly £5,000 on the Brit-built Astra Sports Tourer or drive away a new Corsa 5-door SRi 1.7 CDTi 16v and save £3,465.

In this summer's 'Vauxhall Countdown' event, customers can get 20 per cent off the list price, before options, on a majority of Vauxhall's most popular models – as well as the entire genuine Vauxhall accessory range – when a car is ordered or registered between June 17 and July 18 this year.

Scorching savings can be had by customers wanting to move upmarket too. Choose an Insignia VXR Nav 2.8i V6 24v Turbo 4x4 Auto and savings start from £7,165. For customers on a tighter budget a top of the range Agila SE 1.2 16v ecoFLEX now costs only £9,851, a saving of £2,274. And, for families after great value holiday wheels, the Meriva ticks all the right boxes from as little as

The Vauxhall Astra Sports Tourer: Savings of nearly £5,000.

£13,141, saving £3,064.

Buyers can also kit out their new car and benefit from 20 per cent off on any genuine Vauxhall accessory when purchasing their vehicle via the Countdown offer. For example, connect your iPod to your car and listen to your favourite music by purchasing Vauxhall's iPod connectivity accessory for just £104. All prices include fitting, so no hidden costs.

Better still, Countdown means that fitting a high quality bike carrier will now cost just £52 and to make your journey a real breeze, a Garmin sat nav is only £88. Buyers can also save up to £130 on a set of 17-inch alloys while a set of privacy shades cost just £33.60 (including fitting and centre caps). What's more, all cars in Vauxhall's range come with a Lifetime Warranty (or up to 100,000 miles), available to first owners. This is supported by 12 months' Vauxhall Assistance breakdown cover and six years' body panel anti-perforation warranty.

"Vauxhall Countdown is a no-nonsense 20 per cent discount that applies across almost all models in our range as well as our full range of accessories," said Peter Hope, Vauxhall's marketing director. "It has instant appeal for all our customers and makes ownership of some of our latest, award-winning cars even more attractive than before."

The Renault Mégane Renaultsport 265 trophy: Taking the fight to the Volkswagen Scirocco R and Golf.

The new Mégane Renaultsport 265 Trophy is Renault's flagship

AHEAD of its world debut next weekend at the World Series by Renault, Nurburgring meeting in Germany, the French marque has unveiled its fastest ever road car, the Mégane Renaultsport 265 Trophy.

Priced in the UK at £27,820, the new Mégane Renaultsport flagship arrives ready to take the fight to its VW Group rivals, including the Golf and Scirocco R stablemates, with a 150bhp hike on the current Mégane Renaultsport, plus an extra 20Nm torque.

The newcomer dispatches 0-62mph in six seconds exactly (instead of 6.1), with a top speed of 158mph, up by an extra 2mph. In everyday driving, its 360Nm is usefully available across a broad rev band between 3,000 and 5,000rpm. Its impressive power-to-weight ratio is 191bhp per tonne.

Find more information on the Mégane Renaultsport range is at www.renaultsport.co.uk, or on Twitter @renault_uk.

FOR the best in car care, turn to local firm Mitchell's Motors.

The family-run company, which was established 18 years ago, was founded by Darron Mitchell, who was later joined by dad Malcolm.

The experienced team now provides repairs and servicing to all makes and models of cars and vans, and recently introduced on-site tyre replacement.

Other services include general repairs and vehicle diagnostics, as well as repairs to air conditioning, brakes, tyres, exhausts, clutches, MoTs and servicing.

The experts also offer car servicing to the maker's specifications, ensuring your warranty will not be compromised.

Darron says: "We understand that people's lives are hectic, and being without a car in this part of the region has a huge impact. We aim to provide a one-stop, cost effective solution for our customers' problems within a sensible timescale. Being flexible, understanding and thinking outside the box has enabled Mitchell's to fulfil its aim."

It's no wonder then that much of the company's business comes from repeat clients.

All repairs are covered by a 'no quibble' guarantee, covering parts and labour for a period of 12 months, or 12,000 miles (whichever comes first.)

As well as serving the public, Mitchell's has a number of fleet customers, including British Gas, RAC and Virgin Media.

The dedicated firm also offers free collection and delivery, or free courtesy cars.

Mitchell's is the only

AA and RAC approved garage in the Haverhill area, and is a member of the RMI's 'Trust my Garage'.

As if that wasn't enough, the company is also an approved roadside rescue and recovery contractor for the AA, RAC and other companies, as well as for the majority of insurance companies.

Mitchell's has 14 vehicles, from rescue vans to crew cab tow trucks, operating all over the British Isles.

The company has recently introduced a specialist vehicle to replace tyres and drain fuel tanks at the roadside.

So if your car needs some TLC, visit a garage whose motto is: "We are committed to providing an honest, reliable service, offering advice and repairs that are always in the best interest of the customer."

Mitchell's Motors is at 20-22 Hollands Road, Haverhill. For more information call (01440) 714903.

Wratting, Kedington grab glory

Champions: Kedington under-13s line up after claiming their first tournament success (left) while West Wratting (below) look pleased with themselves after retaining the Whittlesford Fives Cup. CP

IT may be late June but two of the region's colts sides have started their preparations for the new season by lifting silverware.

West Wratting retained the Whittlesford Fives Cup, finishing unbeaten in the stifling heat.

Against good quality opposition that included Sawston, Cherry Hinton and Whittlesford, the Reds won all their group games, scoring nine goals and conceding three.

They then beat Whittlesford Whites 4-0 in the quarter-final - skipper Matt Burley, Harry Willett (2) and James Percy got the goals - to set up an exciting semi final against Whittlesford Reds that went to penalties after Sam Clayton scored the equaliser in a 1-1 draw.

However, Percy, Harrison Ford, Clayton and Burley all scored from the spot to give Wratting a 4-3 victory and a place in the final against a strong Cherry Hinton side.

Again it went to penalties, despite the Reds dominating possession and having the better chances, Percy hitting the post and Burley seeing his snap shot well saved.

Ford and Percy tucked away the first two kicks and when keeper Jack Vernon saved a Cherry Hinton penalty, Clayton strode up to fire home the decider.

Kedington's first tournament win came in their own tournament, which catered for under-eights and under-13s.

It was the under-13s who lifted the silverware, reaching the final against Newmarket by winning all three of their group games.

Newmarket A collected two wins and a draw in a competition which also featured West Wratting, Great Bardfield, Mildenhall, Newmarket B, Littleport, Chesterton and Shelford.

Seven teams - Kedington, three from Newmarket, Willingham, Great Bardfield and Haverhill Reds - competed in the younger age group, Willingham beating Haverhill on penalties when they drew 2-2 after extra time.

Horseheath hammered

HORSEHEATH were on the end of a double mauling by Histon's Alfie Dixon and David Ball at the weekend.

The batsmen shared a mighty 225-run second-wicket stand as Histon stormed to a crushing 299-run victory against Division One's bottom side in the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League on Saturday.

Dixon walloped 149 and Ball hammered 92 as Histon posted 380 for 4. And, with Horseheath shell-shocked, Dave Poskitt waded in with 6 for 17 to skittle the strugglers for 81.

The following day, Dixon, who hit 25 fours in both innings, raced to a cracking 160 in their Invitation Cup quarter-final tie. Ball contributed 56 to their opening stand of 151 as Histon piled up 328 for 4.

Haverhill's winning run over

HAVERHILL have finally tasted defeat in the Halstead League's men's Division One.

Their first defeat of the season came at home to Hedingham, the visitors edging in 6-3.

The reverse came after Haverhill beat The Essex B 7-2.

Horseheath stalled on 192 for 9, Ben Piper getting 67.

Paul Dean's half-century could not prevent Weston Colville slumping to a 102-run defeat at home to Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League, Division Two leaders Castor.

Fred Scruby did his bit with 4 for 71 as the visitors were seen off for 207.

Colville's response got off to a nightmare start with openers Trevor Westley and Andy Brightmore perishing for just a single and a duck respectively.

They were in real danger at 50 for 8, and despite Dean's defiant 58 - he shared a ninth-wicket stand of 52 with Matt Daniels - the hosts were bowled out for 105.

Details - Haverhill 7 The Essex B 2: James Booth and Josh Dashwood won 6-0, 6-2, 6-2; Adam Fowle and Nigel Fitch won 6-3, 6-2, 7-5; Robert Jeffs and Tom Marsh lost 6-1, 3-6, 4-6.

Haverhill 3 Hedingham 6: Adam Fowle and Nigel Fitch won 6-2, 7-5, 6-3; Josh Dashwood and James Booth lost 6-7, 3-6, 1-6; Robert Jeffs and Ross Tobin lost 4-6, 1-6, 5-7.

Magnificent seven

Teen openers in super form

A STAGGERING performance from possibly the youngest opening partnership Haverhill have fielded at senior level helped the Sunday second team continue their unbeaten start to the Hunts County Bats League season.

Ben Wilkins (15) and 16-year-old Tom Saville battered Battsford, helping Haverhill - with 10 players aged under 20 - to their seventh successive Division Four win on a scorching day.

Both scored half-centuries as they eased past the home side's 134 for 9 in 31 overs, a score made attainable by excellent bowling.

Strike pair Ryan Fowler (10-0-35-3) and Jack Mitchinson (9-1-29-3) did the damage, the latter making the breakthrough in the second over as Battsford lurched to 41 for 7 after 12 overs.

Skipper Steve Saville weighed in with two wickets to increase the pressure at 80 for 9 off 24, but the fact they got into three figures was down to Kelk, who made an unbeaten 67. The sides clash again at the Manor on Sunday (1.30pm).

The Sunday firsts get a quick chance of revenge when they travel to Worlington on Sunday for the return Hunts County Bats First XI clash against the side who beat them at the Manor last weekend.

The turning point in the match was the visitors' tight bowling at the start of Haverhill's reply to 233, the home side never matching the rate before winding up at 193 after a brutal 56 from Rob Sullivan.

In contrast, the Worlington openers got stuck into the home attack from the off, gradually accelerating to 233. Anthony Phillips took two wickets, both with catches from Liam Botten, while Dan Pass claimed three.

Shake it: Haverhill skipper Adam Dellar shakes hands with Lashings' Richie Richardson at last year's match.

Lashings are back again

Haverhill this week revealed they have booked another date with the renowned Lashings World XI. Billed as the 'world's greatest club side', Lashings will be heading to the Manor Road ground on August 11.

This year's Lashing's squad includes Chris Harris, Richie Richardson, Curfley Ambrose, Courtney Walsh, Herschelle Gibbs, Ian Harvey, Aravinda de Silva, Wasim Jaffer, Rashid Latif, Mark Ealham, Gordon Greenidge, John Emburey, Devon Malcolm, Henry Olonga, Ed Giddins, Phil Defreitas, Saqlain Mushtaq, Mohammad Akram, Alan Mullally, Tino Best, Graeme Hick and Darren Gough.

The game will again be in aid of the club's youth coaching programme.

■ Haverhill's youngsters put the highly-rated Bury side to the sword to win the District Cup final at Thurlow. Luke Sharp was man of the match as Haverhill, who made 246 for 5, produced a superb display in the field to restrict Bury to 207 for 13.

Haverhill strike pair keep Elmstead on the hop . . .

A SUPERB bowling display helped Haverhill II to a comprehensive victory against Elmstead Grasshoppers II in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Six.

Chasing 222 after Haverhill lost the toss and were put in to bat, Grasshoppers were bogged down by a naggingly-accurate attack with strike bowlers Stu and Rob Ketteridge only conceding runs in three of the first nine overs.

Stu Ketteridge was denied a hat-trick after making the breakthrough on 32 and then getting an lbw verdict with his next ball. His potential third victim survived a very confident shout as the bowler wound up with the impressive figures of 11-8-12-2.

Anthony Phillips ensured Grasshoppers were not allowed to get away, taking 3 for 57 with his off-spin, while Dan Pass weighed in with 2 for 24 as the visitors fell 80 runs short on 142 for 7.

Earlier, Haverhill weathered a tricky start with Sam Hartshorn (63) the backbone of their 222. Although the innings wobbled at 121 for 5, a late flurry from Jason Ketteridge (34) Phillips (23) and Stu Ketteridge (23) helped them to a challenging target.

■ Callum Brunning put the skids under Cokenach as Haverhill Wanderers kept their grip on second place in the Cricket Stick CCA Division 6B. Brunning's devastating spell of spin came just as Cokenach were wobbling at 54 for 4 and earned him 4 for 39 off 10 overs. They subsided to 112 in pursuit of Haverhill's 181 for 9, Nigel Proctor proving the mainstay with 37 after an innings of decent partnerships. ■ Haverhill's first team will be hoping to complete a Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One game for the first time in three weeks on Saturday.

Having had the game against Mildenhall abandoned and the clash at Abberton rained off, the firsts will be hoping for the go-ahead at the Manor against Exning (1pm).

The seconds face a tough trip to Felixstowe while the Wanderers are at home to Madingley II.
